

NAVIGATING PPWR AND EPR OBLIGATIONS ACROSS FRANCE AND EUROPE

In response to the growing number of EPR obligations affecting companies across Europe, the French-German Chamber of Commerce and Industry (AHK France) is offering a series of complimentary webinars in English covering the latest regulatory developments and compliance requirements.

The webinars are aimed at companies selling products on European markets and provide practical guidance on how to navigate EPR obligations in France and other European countries.

We will highlight the key points and explain what PPWR and EPR mean in practice for companies in France and across Europe. Look forward to concrete insights, practical examples and clear guidance.

- What do the latest developments concerning PPWR and EPR obligations mean for your company in practice?
- What requirements apply in France and across Europe – and where is action needed now?

Our 2026 webinar series addresses precisely these questions.

We provide concise, practical and action-oriented insights and show you what companies should be preparing for now in order to meet the new obligations and responsibilities.

Our webinars are not limited to explaining legal requirements. We also provide practical examples, insights into specific billing models and information on potential costs, helping you assess what the new obligations may mean for your company.

The webinars will cover topics including:

PPWR and EPR in France and Europe – latest developments and concrete action points

- Appointed representatives – when an appointed representative is required and what companies need to consider

EPR for packaging in France – household packaging as well as commercial and industrial packaging

- Deep dives into other EPR areas in France, including WEEE, Batteries, Toys, DIY and gardening products, Sports and leisure products, Furniture, Construction products, Chemicals, Oils and lubricants, Sanitary textiles
- Costs and declaration – practical information on declaration and the associated costs for companies

Participation is free of charge. As the number of participants is limited, we recommend registering early by clicking on the relevant links below.
